

International Women's Meditation Collective Foundation 2017 Post-Graduate Education Funding Report

The Result of the Bhikkhuni Empowerment Project

The International Women's Meditation Collective Foundation is committed to supporting the spiritual, intellectual, and personal development of women in the Buddhist monastic and communities. Through scholarships, grants, and networked funding initiatives, the Foundation creates pathways for members of its community to access transformative educational opportunities both within Thailand and internationally.

In 2017, the International Women's Meditation Collective Foundation facilitated funding for post-graduate education through Landmark Education in Bangkok, Thailand. This initiative extended support to Bhikkhunis, Samaneris, and laypersons of the community, enabling them to participate in structured personal and professional development programs.
